

OUR MISSION:

Provide our military families, the professional and financial resources needed to counteract the challenges associated with a military lifestyle.

Bringing Military Families Together

Ever wonder how a soldier handles a tragedy at home? What happens when your family support is thousands of miles away? How does an active military family prepare to send a child off to college in the States, from overseas?

THEY NEED YOU

Stars Forward can help! Our resources are available to active military service members and their families to get them the support they deserve when they need it the most.

Travel Program Highlights

Operation ReCon

Our military operates as one giant family, but every now and again, moms, dads, brothers and sisters need our brave men and women back at home. The ReCon program helps military families get to their other home more frequently, by addressing the expenses associated with going to see loved ones.

Operation Homecoming

Emergencies are a challenging time for anyone, for our brave men and women in uniform this is especially true. Whether they live in the states or around the world, the task of getting home during an emergency is not an easy one, both emotionally or financially. The Homecoming program assists our soldiers and their families with the expenses associated with getting back home when a crisis hits.

Operation .edu

The path to college for military children is a challenging one; no one location is ever called 'home', active military parents move around after kids go off to college, friends are made and lost year after year. When it comes time to start college, the road to find the right school is a daunting one. Operation .edu aims to ease the burden just a little by providing travel assistance to military parents visiting a child in their new educational home.
